

Belief in Angels:

- ↳ Beings sent by Almighty Allah for sharing his directives to his creations are called angels.
- ↳ Quran refers to them as al-mala'ikah which means messengers.
- ↳ When they receive directives, they carry them out obediently. Their own intention or exercise of authority is not involved in the process.

Responsibilities of Angels:

1. They implement directives of Allah
2. They reveal his message to his prophets
3. They write down and preserve the deeds and words of human beings.
4. They descend with glad tidings or punishment for the people.
5. They pray to Allah and ask for forgiveness for the sins of those on earth.
6. They claim the souls of people.
7. They are companions of the faithful both in this and the world after
8. They are in charge of hell

Gratitude is for God only, Creator of the heavens and the earth, He who has made the angels as messengers, with two, three or four wings. He increases His creation according to His will. Indeed, God has power over all things. (35:1)

Belief in Divine books:

- ↳ Similar to how prophets were sent to guide mankind, he also revealed his books to these prophets.
- ↳ The purpose of these books is to provide people with a written guidance so that they can judge right from wrong, resolve their differences.

• And with these [Messengers] We sent down Our Book which is the Judge [between the right and the wrong] so that [through it] people are able to adhere to justice [regarding religion]. (57:25)

And with these [Prophets], He sent down His Book as the decisive truth so that it may settle these differences between people. (2:213)

1. Torah:

↳ Revealed to Moses (sws).

↳ Composed of five books:

1. Genesis → Talks about creation of universe & humans
2. Exodus → Tells story of Moses Vs Pharaoh
3. Leviticus → Talks about laws
4. Numbers → Records history, struggles, and Journey of Israel
5. Deuteronomy → Repeats & explains laws given earlier

↳ Guidance of God has two categories:

1. Shari'ah → Laws
2. Hikmah → Wisdom

↳ Torah majorly consists of shari'ah

2. Psalms:

↳ Revealed to David (s.w.s)

↳ Collection of hymns

↳ Found now in Bible, has 5 books and 150 Psalms.

↳ Now, psalms of other people is also included

↳ Like Gospel, it is hikmah

3. Gospel

↳ Revealed to Jesus (s.w.s)

↳ Purpose was to give glad tidings of the last prophet. Gospel means 'good news'

↳ Revealed in pieces. Before compilation into a book, Jesus was lifted from earth.

↳ There are four gospels according to Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John. They were written in Greek but Jesus spoke Aramaic.

↳ Authors converted to Christianity much later than Jesus (s.w.s) and none of these were written before 70 AD.

4. Quran

↳ Revealed to Prophet Muhammad (s.a.w)

↳ Regarded as mizan (scale that distinguishes good from evil) and the furqan (distinguisher b/w good and evil) and muhayim (a guardian or protector) in previous scripture.

↳ Consists of 114 Surahs, composed in seven sections. Written in Arabic and revealed in the prophet's heart.

↳ Prophet (s.w.s) presented it to his people and then it was transferred by consensus, verbal and written perpetuation.

↳ Only book present in its original form, shape, language and arrangement.

Various aspects of its protection

- During the Quran's revelation, God ensured that devils could not interfere in the process of divine revelation.
- The angel chosen to reveal the Quran is described in the Quran itself (81:21) as powerful, honored, obedient to God, and trustworthy.
- Quran entrusted to the Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) who was the best human being in all respects, Allah took the responsibility of memorizing, organizing, and safeguarding the Quran.
- The Quran is considered a miracle due to its eloquent choice of words and meanings, which are so unique that no other discourse can compare to it.
- Allah (God) has promised to protect and safeguard the Quran until the Day of Judgment.

Believers! Have faith in God and His messenger, in the Book He has revealed to His messenger, and also in the books He has previously revealed and [remember that] he who denies God, His angels, His books and His prophets and the Last Day has strayed far. (4:136)
